VPN IPSEC

The VPN is a data network connection that makes use of the public telecommunication infrastructure, but maintains privacy through the use of a tunneling protocol and security procedures. IPSec is a protocol, which runs atop the VPN, and is used for securing the internet traffic across the VPN tunnel. Duxte boasts skills in configuring VPN access across multi-vendor platforms such as Cisco, Juniper, Sonic, Check Point, and many more.

Advantages: Increase your office productivity by accessing the Corporate LAN from your home, airport, or hotel room, through the public internet over a secure VPN tunnel.

L3 MPLS VPN Design and Implementation

Multiprotocol Label Switching (MPLS) is a mechanism in high-performance telecommunications networks which directs and carries data from one network node to the next. MPLS makes it easy to create "virtual links" between distant nodes. It can encapsulate packets of various network protocols.

Advantages: Cost effective solution with QoS capabilities, increased response time and improved application performance through reduced "hops" between network points, less or no downtime as redundant paths are made available in the MPLS cloud which allow quick traffic re-routing, providing continued application availability.
